THE

NEILL RECORD BOOK

TO

ALL OF THE NEILLS AND THEIR RELATED FAMILIES

Especially, Mr. Oro J. Neill.
It has been my privilege to consult with him, continuously, the past four years. His long association and interest in our kinfolks, definitely, made this book a possibility.

Special thanks are also due to those, who collected data for their immediate family lines. their unselfish endeavor has helped us to complete most of these records.

Our objective has been to trace the name Neill, brought to this country by John and Margaret (Thompson) Neill, and gather the statistics of their descendants. Our efforts were to record this data into a true book of genealogy.... that is, not of opinion, dogma, or personal equations. Hoping too, that our efforts may be perpetuated by our descendants.

The related family data has been held to a minimum - due mostly to economics.... nevertheless, this loose leaf book has been designed, primarly, for those who might wish to help in gathering additional records. We appreciate the information already received and earnestly solicit - - any and all, related family records for our incomplete files.

The appreciation and understanding of one's lineage is another of life's fascinations.... at least I have found that this is so. Receiving supplement material, or corrections for the existing records, will be most welcome.

Ira J. Neill

Immigrant, Pioneer & Farmer.

. , 1790 John, Margaret & their son William, immigrated to America.

Jun. 20, 1818 (Carmel Monthly Meeting, Middleton Township, near Rogers, Ohio.) John & his son John received on certificate from Dunning Creek M.M. dated Mar. 11, 1818. (There is a Dunning Creek, just East of Bedford, in Bedford County, Pennsylvania.)
Apr. 17, 1819 (Carmel M.M.) John & son John granted certificate to New Garden M.M.
May 20, 1819 (New Garden M.M. Columbiana Co. Ohio) John & wife, John received on certificate from Carmel M.M. dated Apr. 17, 1819.
Oct. 26, 1820 (New Garden M.M.) John chosen overseer.

Oro J. Neill (6-32) states - I was once told by Andrew T. Steiner, that knew the old Neill family, that they came from North Hampton, Pennsylvania, a township within Somerset County, and in the near vicinity of Dunning Creek Junction.

Andrew T. Steiner (born 1853 died 1936) was an old retired school teacher. He was the husband of Inatha (Crow) Steiner, a daughter of Richison Crow.

Clayton B. Neill (6-7) received the following reply from ---

ULSTER-SCOT HISTORICAL SOCIETY
Law Courts Building, Chichester Street 1, Northern Ireland.

Feb. 12, 1965 Dear Mr. Neill; (account reference number - G.1197)

We are greatly hampered in the North of Ireland by a shortage of records and we are disappointed that we have been so unsuccessful in your case. If, however, we chance to find some record of your family we shall report to you on our findings.

The account is enclosed and also maps showing the location of the parishes mentioned in the search. Yours sincerely, Miss I. Embleton, secretary.

The U.S. Censes records for 1800, 1810 & 1820 were checked. They are considered a questionable source, for genealogy records, but they do suggest the following.

JOHN (1-1) was born between 1756 & 1765
WILLIAM (2-1) was born between 1776 & 1783
JOHN (2-6) was born between 1801 & 1805

Obviously, John (1-1) would not have been born in 1765 and have a son in 1776, yet, one date or the other could be correct - they must remain as is, for now. The censes records suggest that John (2-6) was born between 1801 & 1809. His first child was born in 1823, so, 1809 was changed to read 1805.

John & Margaret are probably buried in a grove, just a few paces uphill from the Carmel Meeting House. Altho one cannot tell who is buried there, it's remarkable how well the myrtle plants, originally outlining the graves, have endured.

W.W. Hinshaw, Vol. IV, p. 880 ref.

Aug. , 1835 John, Nancy & son Webster, along with Nancy's brother, Richison Crow, left Columbiana Co. & arrived, Putnam Co. on Oct. 8, 1835.

--

Jan. 30, 1964 - The following data was written by, and received from -
Mr. Warder Crow. 2605 Prairie Ave. Evanston, Illinois 60201.

James Crow, born 1791, married Elizabeth Moreland who was a devout Quaker. John Neill came to Putnam County with his father-in-law, James Crow, in 1835. The Quaker church expelled John "because of pride". He was quite meticulous in his personal habits. He was a maker of muzzle-loading rifles. His stock of materials came from Cincinnati, via the canal, probably to Delphos or Defiance. In 1926 or'27, I purchased from the widow of John Beard one of John Neill's rifles. She said that it had been delivered by the maker to her father, about 1856, when she was quite small. The maker's name was clearly and neatly placed on the barrel. The wood stock extended the full length of the barrel and dried mud adhered to the interstice from the fact that the gun stood in their former home at the time of the 1913 flood and it was almost entirely covered by muddy flood water. The leather ammunition pouch, bullet mold and powder horn were perfectly preserved.

My grandfather, William Richison Crow, (Nancy Ann's brother) nursed the Neill family during their terrible tragedy, contacted the fever and his life too was despaired of, but he recovered. He was a six footer and weighed 240 pounds, with not a bit of excess weight; in fact he was quite athletic in habits until at least forty years old. Grandpa administered the John Neill Estate, and it totaled 35,000 dollars in value.

Oro J. Neill (6-32) states - There is no question, or doubt, that John Neill was reared a Quaker. I have been told by some of the Crow family and others that John was expelled from the Quaker church for refusing to comply with their manner of dress. Their first church (in Greensburg township) stood on the land of James Crow, which he gave for that purpose, joining the Crow cemetery or adjacent to it. As to the denomination - I always took it that it was just a place of worship, for the few pioneer settlers, without any particular sect.

In the summer of 1929, a letter arrived at the Ottawa, Ohio Postoffice, with instructions to the postmaster to deliver it into the hands of any one by the name of Neill that might be receiving their mail through that postoffice. The letter was delivered to my father, Joseph Webster Neill (5-25).

It was stated that the letter was from, Miss Anna Mary Neill (4-23), the daughter of Joseph and Mary Jane (Chambers) Neill (3-8), and that she was in a home for the aged, at Cleveland, Ohio. She then continued, that her uncle, John Neill (3-3), had reared a family near Ottawa, Ohio and that if there were any surviving members, or descendants, she would like to hear from them.

I had long known that our great grandfather, John Neill (3-3), had brothers and sisters that he had left in Columbiana County, when he left there in 1835. I had tried every possible lead to locate some of their descendants in the past years, but to no avail and this was the break, in what long had been an impentrable wall.

On November 24, 1929 I answered her letter and ask many questions, relative to our long lost kin folks. I received no answer from her and had resigned myself to the fact that I never would.

About seven months later, I received the following letter from James Elderkin Neill (4-22) of Greeley, Colorado. P.O. box, 1207.

May 8, 1930 - Mr. Oro J. Neill, Ottawa, Ohio. Dear Cousin; Did anyone ever answer your letter, of Nov. 24, 1929, to my sister Anna Mary Neill of Cleveland, Ohio. I have your letter to her, in my possession, and if it was not answered I will try to do so if you let me know. My sister died some time ago. Waiting your reply I remain, Your Cousin, James Elderkin Neill, Greeley, Colorado.

I promptly answered the letter and received the following letter.

May 31, 1930 - Mr. Oro J. Neill, Ottawa, Ohio. Dear Cousin; Your letter of May 19, 1930, received, and I am glad to hear from you. I am not going to write much of a letter as I am quite nervous, being, as I think I told you, in my 79th year.

Mrs. Nettie Belle (Wilson) Harris, of Eagleville, California, is a second cousin of your father, Joseph Webster Neill (5-25) and Morton Joseph Neill (5-42).

My nephew, Morton Joseph Neill, who has gone to Porterville, California, has more information on the Neill family than anyone else. Mrs. Harris, first started to look up the Neills, and we have helped all we could. If it had not been for my sister, Anna Mary Neill, who died in March, most all records would have been lost.

Morton Joseph wrote me, that as soon as he gets a little time he will add to the list. Mrs. Harris sent me a sheet, 15 inches by 36 inches long, going back eleven generations from my great grandaughter. (Nancy Neill 7-56).

Mrs. Harris and Morton Joseph, has spent a lot of time getting what data they do have and are still working. Mrs. Harris' father was Samuel A. Wilson, a son of Mary Neill (3-5). Mary, was a sister of your great grandfather,John Neill. She was married to Andrew B. Wilson. Mrs. Harris has a record that goes back from you for five generations as follows. Oro Joseph Neill (6-32); his father, Joseph Webster (5-25); his, Seth Washington (4-12); his, John (3-3); his, William (2-1); his, John (1-1). The last two were from Ireland.

I think if you correspond with her you can make the arrangements to get the information you want, although not complete. The partial list that I have does not have the name of my father's cousins, and uncle, that lived in Lisbon, Ohio, some of which, I have sent to Mrs. Harris, or rather to my nephew, Morton Joseph Neill.

John Neills (3-3) mother's name, before she was married, was Susanna Morton (2-1). My father told me he was part Irish, Scotch & Dutch. Should I hear anything new in regard to our relatives, will let you know. James Elderkin Neill, Greeley, Colo.

In the summer of 1932, I received a 32 x 33 inch chart from Mrs. Harris containing 11 generations. It was evident that she had already given a tremendious amount of work to assemble so much data. The following letter accompanied the chart.

This chart, when more nearly complete and reduced in size, is designed to accompany a book which I hope, some day, to have in print. A Neill Book, of course, should contain much additional data, such as copies of wills, deeds, marriage records or certificates, legal documents of any kind, Bible records, public or patriotic service, occupations or professions. If you do have such, do send copies. Incidents of interest particularly of sixth generation or earlier, would make most interesting reading. I find that not a few Friends, departed from their peace principles and enlisted as soldiers and went forth to war, for which they were disowned. Some who finally expressed their sorrow, for this breach of discipline, were continued in membership. If you have similar references, may I use them.

To some of our folks I am sending this chart copy, hoping it may prompt them to send information which they may see is lacking and which I would very much value; to others I am sending it in consideration of assistance they have already given me and of their interest in this project. It is also intended as a proof copy for any corrections that may be necessary. Please read carefully the part pertaining to your family. Advise me if there are any discrepancies, or additions required.

The numbers on the chart are the numbers by which each individual, respectfully, is identified in the volume and in which I would like to have as full a write up of our ancesters as is procurable. For any such information you may furnish, I will be your graceful debtor. - Nettie B. Harris.

A similar copy of the afore mentioned chart was mailed to John Allison Neill (5-24) of Bryan, Ohio and he volunteered to compile the data on the John & Nancy Neill family, also their living descendants, who still resided here in Ohio. This required much time and effort and on its completion, I had a letter from him; He was reluctant to mail it on to Mrs. Harris. For some reason he had a premonition that this book would never be published and all the data he had gathered on our family would be lost. I ask him to mail the data to me and I would have two copies typed, I would retain one and direct one to Mrs. Harris and return his original.

I present the following letters to verify that this was done.

July 15, 1933 - Mr Oro J. Neill, Ottawa, Ohio. Dear Cousin; Business matters called me here from Medford, Oregon some weeks ago, and I shall probably be here the rest of the summer. I do not work on the family history records while here, partly because I haven't the time and partly because all my papers are in Medford. Last spring I had a letter from John Allison Neill, saying he had twelve pages of typewritten material which he would send, but as yet, I have not received it and am most anxious to have it. I have received the Morton & Ann (Cope) Neill (3-6), 1811-1887, record from his only grandson, Dillwyn Stanley, since I have been here, so I feel that I am slowly making some progress. I have also received more data concerning the Hanna & Sarah (Neill) Fagen families. (3-7 and 3-9).

Thank you for the interest you are taking. - Nettie B. Harris, Adin, California.

August 31, 1933 - Mr. Oro J. Neill, Ottawa, Ohio. Dear Cousin; Just a few hasty lines to acknowledge receipt of the record and pictures and your very interesting letter. I cannot tell you how I prize them.

I shall also send a few lines to John Allison Neill, for the very excellent record which I know has taken much time and effort. Thank you too for the material help you have given. Do you ever plan a trip West - I should like to know your family. - Sincerely, Nettie B. Harris. Adin, California.

Several months later I received the following letter from John Allison Neill.

March 19, 1934 - Mr. Oro J. Neill, Ottawa, Ohio. Dear Nephew; In the latter part of February I wrote a letter to Mrs. Harris and ask her for a copy of her history of the Neills and was surprised to get a letter from her brother, Mr. Ezra Morton Wilson, of Medford, Oregon, stating that his sister had died Monday morning, February 5, 1934, after a few hours of heart trouble. Mr E.M. Wilson said he will evdeavor to complete the history and have it printed during the next year.

Did you ever get a copy of the history Mrs. Harris had? if not, I'm afraid we will not get it as Mr Wilson has so much work to do that will take up his time. He is the Mayor of Medford, Oregon. If you did get a copy of the history I would like to have it to get a copy as I am afraid Mr. Wilson will not rush the work and I am anxious to see it. Please let me know as soon as possible. Yours truly, J.A. Neill.

There was but one Nettie B. Harris and her loss was irreparable, she was a most able and competent person, there were none to take over where she left off. It was the eleventh hour, so to speak, when she came on the scene and through her diligence and devotion to the Neill History, much of this data was gathered while the old generation was still present, and thereby - saved from oblivion.

We are building on this foundation and giving birth to what she conceived.

For the next eleven years that followed the book seemed to have been forgotten by everyone, but in the spring of 1945 I wrote a letter to Mr. E.M. Wilson of Medford, Oregon and received the following letter.

March 2, 1945 - Mr. Oro J. Neill, Ottawa, Ohio. Dear Cousin; I just received your letter and was greatly pleased to hear from you. Since my sister died in the winter of 1934, we seem to have little correspondance with our distant folks. However, my daughter, Mrs. Edith M. Gifford, has all the records accumulated by my sister and has been keeping up the information as she can get it. You would be surprised at the data that we have accumulated and in which we hope some time to have in print.

It's quite a problem to edit and prepare such a volume. I am now 78 years old and ready to retire and if life holds on, I will personally take on the work of the book. Mrs. Gifford will appreciate any information, of late date particularly, you may have.

I was East in February 1935 and visited Olin Dwight Neill (5-43) in Boulder, Colorado. This was not long following the death of James Elderkin Neill. - Sincerely, E.M. Wilson. Medford, Oregon.

In October, 1951, I received a notice of Mr. E.M. Wilson's death.

Through the 1950's we exchanged cards and letters with Mrs. Edith M. Gifford, and in September, 1962, I received the following letter from her.

September 25, 1962 - Dear Cousin Oro & Vera; I have had some extra time so have typed a new Neill History or Genealogy. Cost of printing is prohibitive so typing will have to do.

Not much family news here, I have two grandsons in the service, one in the missile department and one in the secrete service. I only hope we do not get into a fighting war.

Will mail you two copies in about a week. If you need more, I will type again. Sincerely, Edith M. Gifford. 127 Medical Center Bulding Medford, Oregon.

The books were received from Mrs. Gifford, as promised, to which I promptly answered, expressing my real appreciation - not only for the books but as well for her devotion to and persistancy in preserving the unfinished work left by Mrs. Nettie B. Harris. Also, for her continued efforts collecting statistics and data.

The contribution made by Mrs. Edith M. Gifford, in making possible a Neill History is indeed salutary. Hers was not only the basis, but as well - the material from which the frame work must be constructed. This consisted not only of the Neill family, but the branch families as well. One must say, her work was both the basis and keystone for any Neill History that might follow.

In the spring of 1963, I received a letter from Mr. Ira Jerome Neill (6-51) of Seattle, Washington, whom I had met but one time before, a few years previous. He stated that he was coming East in June and that if it was acceptable, he and his family would like to spend a day reviewing the old family landmarks. I answered in the affirmative, and on the morning of July 1st they arrived.

The day that followed, we visited the old, John Neill home site, Crow Cemetery, Bowman's Rock, Blue Creek and many other things of interest before retiring to our easy chairs in the protective shade of the trees, that had sheltered six generations of the Neill family. It was in this environment that the first plans were conceived to revise, bring up to date, print and make available, to all concerned, the history of the Neill Family in America.

Ira J. Neill was to assume the task of compiling and editing the book and I was to assist in every way that would be of value. The outcome, we both concured, would be dependant on the cooperation received from the many descendants of John and Margaret (Thompson) Neill (1-1).

This is one version of the compilation of the Neill book as seen from the John and Nancy Ann (Crow) Neill (3-3) branch. As to where, and from who, Mrs. Harris had her source of information for the other branches - I have little knowledge, but it is certain, the version that might be forthcoming from them would be considerably different.

It is evident that Mrs. Harris had a broad knowledge of every branch, emanating from the William & Susanna (Morton) Neill branch, excepting the John & Nancy Ann (Crow) Neill branch, by 1929. The meager data on her chart verifies this. As stated by James Elderkin Neill, had it not been for Anna Mary Neill - we might have never been known to the other branches.

In 1934 I had a very broad knowledge of the Neill family, but did not know where they lived. It seemed that there was a reluctance to divulge the location, or addresses, of these people. It would be a small and interesting story that I could write on this subject - maybe, not so small.

To most of our long-lost relatives one is accepted without reservation, while others turn the law of the land - upside-down . . . Instead of being considered innocent until you are proven guilty, you are considered guilty until you have been proven innocent.

And such is the story of the Neill Book. For the amount of work that is involved for you, it seems that you should have an intimate knowledge of this background. I know that this involves much work for me but I am not entirely undmindful, that so have you much work - mine is tolerant of errors, while yours is not.

You have my permission to use this in your book, all or in part. Or you may eliminate it and I will not be offended.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas. As ever, your cousin, Oro J. Neill.

3-3 A family story about JOHN & NANCY ANN (Crow) NEILL (page 1 of 6) 3-3

-- Received, Feb. 25, 1964 from Oro J. Neill: Ottawa, Ohio. Compiler, Ira J. Neill.

Those of the Neill clan, tracing their ancestry back to Putnam County, Ohio are the progeny of John Neill (3-3) the son of William and Susanna (Morton) Neill (2-1) and the grandson of John and Margaret (Thompson) Neill (1-1) who came to America, from Ireland, about the year 1790.

John Neill (3-3) was born in Somerset County, Pa., I have been told North Hampton, Pa., Feb. 26, 1805. He was the third of 9 children: Margaret, Samuel, John, William, Mary, Morton, Hannah, Joseph and Sarah. They belonged, in every sense, to the old American pioneer stock. Their great grandfather, Samuel Morton Sr., having arrived in Chester County, Pa. from Kilmore Parish, Ireland in February, 1728.

In 1788, the Mortons immigrated to Somerset Co. from Chester Co. Pa. As to the time when the Neills arrived in Somerset, We have no record. The records do show that William Neill and Susanna Morton were married there in 1801. In the light of this fact, it is reasonable to assume, the Neills had been in residents of Somerset County previous to that date.

The next thread we pick up revealing the movements of this family is a will filed by John Neill (1-1) at Lisbon, Ohio on May 18, 1825. The amount of chattles and real estate bequeathed in this will gives evidence that they were well established at that time and not new comers to Columbiana County.

It was not until the advent of the 1830's that the first dependable light of history begins to break through on the activities of this family. The year of 1833 marked the death of John Neill (1-1) and as he, at the turn of the century, had pressed on into the wilderness of Eastern Ohio -- now his grandchildren, that had grown to maturity, were turning their eyes to the great new west and its opportunities.

The first to set out on this westward journey was John Neill (3-3) with a span of oxen, his wife and infant son Webster and his wife's brother Richison Crow took off for Putnam County, Ohio in August, 1835 and arrived on October 8th, six weeks later. He there joined his wife's uncle Abraham II Crow, who had arrived the year previous.

Anna Crow, the wife of John Neill (3-3), was the daughter of James Crow and Elizabeth Moreland and the granddaughter of Abraham I Crow & Rachel Craven of Bucks and Washington Co. Pa. who in 1815 came to Columbiana Co. Ohio. They are buried in Kimmel Cemetery located about two miles north of Elkton, Ohio. Anna's uncle Abraham II Crow and his wife Sarah Thompson, with their large family, choose Putnam Co. as their future home and John Neill bid farewell to his own blood kin, whom he was never to see again, and persued his fortunes with his wifes people who had arrived in Putnam County - enmasse.

Putnam Co. is a level plain, described by geologist as part of the old glacial basin of second glacial lake Maumee. It is traversed from south west to north east by many miles of old glacial lake beach remnants, that represents the shore line of a large body of water formed near the close of the glacial period.

North and west of these old lake beaches lies the broad level plains that were once the basin of the lake. Through these plains the Blanchard & Auglaize Rivers, have since, incised their valleys and draws to give drainage to the immediate flat area near them. Immediately away from the draws that drain into the rivers, was a vast area comprising several counties, known to the settlers as "The Black Swamp".

It was along these high beaches, river terraces & draws that the early pioneers located. On arrival, John Neill crossed over the old lake beaches, descended into the basin and located near the draws of the Blanchard River, with the Black Swamp near his back door.

It is recorded in the local history that Putnam County was organized on May 8, 1834 and that Greensburg Township, therein, was organized the same year. Abraham Crow was elected the first trustee and that year following, John Neill and James Crow arrived, took up residence and became its first citizens.

John Neill and the Crows each purchased 160 acres of land from the government in sections 11 and 12, respectfully, in the afore named township. These farms were located on the Ottawa and Defiance Trail, that was little more than a foot path through the forest. The Defiance Trail is now State Route number 15 and sections 11 and 12 are located 7 miles north west of Ottawa, Ohio.

Joining John Neill on the south was Henry Wing a native of Rockingham, Vermont. Wing came to North Western Ohio as a United States soldier in the war of 1812-14. Following the war he remained in this area as a surveyors assistant. He was Putnam Counties first white settler.

In 1836, the Myers family from Hagerstown, Maryland arrived and located on farms west of Wing. This party was led by the aged father John Myers, born about - 1760. He had been a stage coach driver between New York and Baltmore, at the turn of the century. The family tradition states that George Washington was once his passenger. He had many sons and daughters. Some of which, in the future, would come to the assistance of the Neill family at a time of their greatest stress - and moreover, to be by blood ties.

Soon following the arrival of the Neill and Crow families work was started on construction of new homes. The house built by the Crows was a one room structure, built of logs flatted on two sides and a clapboard roof. A fireplace provided the convenience for heat and preparation of food. Large holes were drilled into the wall and heavy pegs were driven into them. These served as a ladder, or stairway, that led to a trap door in the ceiling that gave entrance to a low attic, that was used for sleeping quarters. As to the type of house built by John Neill, I have no knowledge. It is reasonable to assume that it was little different than the Crows.

The second home built by John Neill was a one and one half story structure - 34 x 36 feet square. It was a frame structure made of 6 x 6 inch timbers hewed by hand. The joists and angular pieces were secured by mortise and tenon joints pinned by wooden dowels. The siding was poplar wood and modern in type. The windows were the twelve pane type. There was a split level porch to the front, 8 x 16 feet, that recessus into the main structure of the building, leaving small, 8 x 9 foot, square rooms at each corner. The joists and sleepers were heavy logs flatted on the top and bottom to receive the floor or ceiling lath. A door on each end of the porch gave entrance to a large, spacious, living room and dining room. A fireplace in the dining room gave convenience for heat and cooking. To the back of these two rooms mentioned were doors that gave entrance to a bedroom on one side and to the kitchen and pantry on the other.

The second floor, being little more than an over sized attic, was neatly and fully finished. A dividing wall in the center made available two upstairs bedrooms, each, 14 feet in width and 18 feet in length. The ceiling and walls were reminiscent of the bottom side of a gambrel roof, giving them a pentagonal appearance.

To the rear of the dining room was a door that gave entrance to the stairway that was located between the two inner walls of the living and dining rooms. The stairway consisted of ten steps that were given an unusual six inch tread with seven inch risers. It was a precarious ascent and descent. The slope was more comparable to a ladder than a stairway. My father once told me that it was not too uncommon for the children to go the quick way downstairs - by tumbling.

The stairhead came came full flush to the huge brick fireplace chimney that stood in the exact center of the house and from there, doors to the right and left gave entrance to the bedrooms, each having one window located on the end gables.

This house was replaced with a brick structure about the year of 1907 but a part of the old house was left on the site and serves as a wing, or annex, to the new structure. It is still there to this day. (Where highway 108 joins 15, ref.)

John Neill's second son Seth was born on March 1, 1836 five months after their arrival in this untamed wilderness. Seth was married to Mary Ann Shank, a granddaughter of John Myers, on April 11, 1857. On February 15, 1858 John Neill placed 1,000 dollars in the crown of his high silk hat, drove to the county seat and purchased 80 acres of land joining his on the west. This place was immediately occupied by his son Seth and his new bride. On September 18, 1859 the deeds were transfered to his son Seth Neill.

Work was soon under way to replace an old log house, which was on the new farm, with a more modern structure. This building was to be, when completed, an exact replica of his father's home. By spring, 1860, the house was completed and they had moved into the new home. It was there that they lived the rest of their life span. Seth Neill passing away on Sept. 8, 1899; his wife Mary Ann, Nov. 18, 1914.

The house was vacated from November, 1914 to December, 1922. It was then occupied by the writer, a great grandson of John Neill. At this date, the house is still in a good state of repair and has become a Mecca for the many descendants of John and Anna (Crow) Neill.

Following the construction of John Neill's first home, and clearing a few acres of land for cultivation, they were confronted with the near impossible task of transporting their produce to the nearest market at Fort Defiance - 25 miles away. John Neill endeavored to meet this challenge, namely by water, highway and railroad. I will pursue each separately.

Two of the largest poplar trees available were found, 12 miles away, and hauled to the home of John Neill where they were hewed, hollowed and joined together to fashion a huge boat. This was used and manned by the young men of the neighborhood for more than 20 years to transport their farm produce to Fort Defiance, via the Blanchard and Auglaize Rivers. This boat was later to be immortalized in verse, "Romance of Bowman's Rock" by Everitt A. Budd.

The highways in Putnam County in 1835 were but wagon trails leading through the dense forests. Time was frequently given by the early settlers, falling trees to open new roads. It was on one such occasion, in September of 1843, that John Neill, Richison Crow and Henry Wing were falling trees on the Defiance Trail when a large sycamore, felled by Crow, struck Wing and killed him instantly.

Wings death was the first in the community - with the exception of one of the Brower children, belonging to a family, that lived about two miles west of the Neills and Crows. The child was buried in the front yard of the Brower home. Wings death, awakened everyone to the fact that there was no place for burial. It was at this time that James Crow arose to the occasion and remarked - "that this should never happen again and that he was giving a plot of ground to his neighbors for a cemetery, where every one could bury free of charge." To this day, it is known as the Crow Cemetery and there has never been a grave lot sold. (The Crow Cemetery records, or names, have been compiled and are recorded in the Seattle Genealogical Society Bulletins of 1966. ref.)

Railroad fever, as it was known then, had hit the country at an early date and by 1850 several roads were being considered, but their location would be determined largely by the financial assistance given by the various counties through which they would pass.

On March 1, 1851 a railroad meeting was held at Gilboa, Ohio. Amoung those attending was John Neill, who had traveled 15 miles to be present. It was there resolved to give their undivided support to the railroad venture - 75,000 dollars was to be raised through taxation to be subscribed to the stock of this railroad. This issue was to be decided at the ballot box on October 12, 1852. A committee was organized, consisting of one man from each township, to enlighten the people on the issue and get them out to vote. John Neill was appointed as a committee of one - for Greensburg Township. The votes were tabulated as follows ---

Greensburg Township,	for - 88.	against - 27
Putnam County,	for - 955.	against - 391

On July 4, 1859 the first train, wheezed and puffed its way across Putnam County and another one of John Neill's dreams had become a reality. This road was then known as the Cincinnati, Hamilton & dayton, or C.H.& D. Today it is the Baltimore & Ohio, or B.& O. Railroad.

By trade, John Neill was a Gunsmith, Locksmith, Cabinet Maker & Farmer. He was a craftsman of the highest order and soon following his arrival, in Putnam County, he erected a workshop on his farm and there, manufactured guns and furniture. The walnut and other hardwoods, came from his farm, and was found in abundance there.

The furniture, he manufactured, had no mark of identification and consequently, most has been lost in the depths of time. The exception, for those that might wish to admire the skill of his handiwork is a corner cupboard that is in the possession of this writer, his great grandson Oro J. Neill (6-32) Ottawa, Ohio. Another corner cupboard is in the possession of a Mr. Troyer, whose grandparents were neighbors of John Neill, back in the 1850's.

For the guns that he made we are more fortunate for he stamped, or engraved, his name on the barrel - a few inches below the rear sight. In recent years, one has been seen in Michigan and Iowa and about 1930, there were 8 or 10 stacked in a local news paper office in responce to an ad, for a gun made by the late John Neill.

The known existing guns, are owned by Wilbur L. Neill (7-34); Ira Neill (6-51); Eldon Powell Ottawa, Ohio (restocked); Ben Vennekotter Glandorf, Ohio (lost or stolen); Evin Armstrong Craig, Colorado; Warder Crow Evanston, Illinois and one by the writer that John Neill gave to my grandfather, Seth Neill, about 1856.

Unfortunately, there is little in printed or written records that has escaped the ravages of time that would permit us to gain a deeper knowledge of the many accomplishments of John Neill, in the 27 years and 19 days, that destiny alloted to him in this new and hostile wilderness. We, his descendants, must content ourselves with the few traditional tales and expressions that have survived a century, or so, following his death.

I repeat a story told to me many years ago by my grandmother."It was many years ago when I was but a young girl. My father and mother were to be gone for the day. All of the children were in school except the two younger children and my older sister. While there alone, the house took fire and burned to the ground. My sister tried to save some of the contents of the house, but she was hampered in this by the children clinging to her dress. She took the maple sugar jar and set it by the side of the road, and took the children out and let them eat maple sugar, and was thus able to save some of the contents of the home.

Some weeks later word was passed amoung the people in the area to appear on a certain day to cut and hew logs for our new home. The first man to appear that morning was John Neill, who had traveled five miles in the late hours of the night over primative roads, with his span of oxen, cart and axes. Little did I think that one day I would marry one of his sons."

The young girl that tripped out that morning to meet him was to become his daughter in law and would present him with his first grandson John Allison Neill (5-24) born march 1, 1858. I had the privilege of conversing with John Allison many times in his later years. He had very vivid memories of his grandfather and his workshop. He related how his grandfather reminded him that "tools were not for little boys to play with." He stated, My grandfather was extremely neat and precise in his habits and was a man of unusual ability. His workshop was a combination of gunmakers, carpentry, cabinetmakers and blacksmith shop and he made many guns for the pioneer settlers. He often repaired guns for the Indians and some times they came in the night and he gave them food and lodging. When differences arose between any of the pioneer settlers, he took prompt action in bringing the opposing parties together, pointing out, the community was too small to allow any disruptions in their relations.

He was the neighborhood adviser in administering to the sick, in fact his ministrations were considered the best available in the absence of a regular practicing physician, the nearest available physician being 25 miles away through the wilderness.

By 1845 much of the highlands of the country had been taken by the white settlers, that were arriving yearly from the east. The dense forest, that had once covered the area, was rapidly disappearing by the woodsman's axe. The Black Swamp, that comprised much of the north part of the country, still remained in its wild and forbiding state and became an animal refuge that attracted the hunters through out the county.

John Neill living with this swamp at his back door would occasionally take time out from his busy schedule to go deer hunting. It was on one such occasion that he wandered too great a distance from home and nightfall overtook him. He was being trailed by a pack of hungry wolves that eventually forced him to scale a tree, where he remained until daybreak. To get respite from the incessant howling that continued through the night, he would occasionally fire a cap in his gun and this would cause the wolves to scurry away for a brief time.

Later he had a horse to die and dragged the carcass into the swamp. That night there was howling and feasting, by the wolves, that continued till daybreak. On the following day he returned and thoroughly poisoned the carcass; on the second night the howling and feasting continued and on the third night, all was silent. This was told to me by Henry Wing, a grandson of the afore mentioned, Henry Wing.

Once that the railroad became a certainty, the advantage of having his workshop in the village, through which it passed, became apparent. Plans were started for the erection of a new brick building that was to be used as a workshop and general store; this was to be located in the village of Ottawa, that, but a few decades before had been occupied by the Ottawa Indians - from whom it derived its name.

This was an arduous task, for the mud had to be mixed by hand, dried in home made frames and burnt in crudely made kilns. In the autumn of 1862 the building was completed and ready for occupancy. It was the first brick building in the village, it still stands and is in use today. It is located at 225 West Main St.

On April 16, 1861, Fort Sumter was fired upon and Lincoln issued his call for 75,000 Malitia to serve 90 days. On July 21, 1861 the Union forces were defeated at Bull Run and it became apparent that a long and bloody war was at hand. There was never any question as to the allegiance of the Neill family, for some had long been participating in the activities of the Underground Railroad; but the peaceable principles of their faith, forbid combative service - which many abandonded and went off to war.

The following story, was repeated to me by my grandmother - "One day, in the late summer of 1862, Elias Farabee rode to the home of Seth Neill - he was on horse back. He suggested, they enlist in the Union Army. Stating, it was his belief that eventually they would be drafted and that he prefered to be an enlisted man."

They bid farewell to their wives and children. My grandmother stated - "that their baby, Samuel, cried in her arms when Seth bid her good-by and in less than a month - Samuel was dead.

On the 10th of August, 1862 Seth Neill, Elias Farabee; their cousin Ephraim Crow and a neighbor, Daniel Troyer, enlisted. They were mustered into service at Camp Lima, Lima, Ohio on August 26, 1862 and assigned to Company I, 99th Ohio Volunteer Infantry. The regiment was assembled at Cincinnati, and at that time an invasion of the North, by units of the Confederate Army seemed imminent. They, along with other regiments of green recruits from Ohio were dispatched into Kentucky to counter this threat. Some of the longest forced marches, of the war, was recorded by these units. The heat was intense, and later would prove to be disastrous to the regiment.

The 99th regiment suffered but few casualities but the 95th O.V.I. was near annihilated. There were 13 major engagements in which the 99th bore an honorable part. The regiment suffered 280 dead (killed, died of wounds and diseases) 40 of which was from I company. The 99th was present at the battle of Stone River, Dec. 31, 1862. Of the 2,250 men in the regiment, 1,900 were sick in camp and but 350 men were able to go into battle.

On December 5, 1862,Ephraim,(the 18 year old son of William Richison Crow) of the 99th regiment, died in an Army camp in Tennessee. His body was returned home for burial. He lies in the Crow Cemetery.

In December 1862, Seth Neill was stricken with measles, and other complications, in an Army camp in Tennessee, and was discharged in January, 1863 with a surgeons certificate of disability. His physical condition was in such a weakened state, that he was unable to return home. His father, John Neill, came South and made the arrangements for his transportation home. They arrived in late January. A most grim fate was yet to follow them, for soon after their return - John Neill, was stricken with a fever that he had contracted while in the South.

John Neill died on March 27, 1863. Then, just seven weeks later, on May 8th, his wife Anna (Crow) Neill and their eight year old son, William A. Neill, died. Two days later, on May 10, their eighteen year old son, Morton Neill, passed away. Also, on May 8, 1863, Anna's sister Lydia (Crow) Brower died - all, victims of typhus fever. Three months later, on August 7, 1863, James Crow, the father of Anna and Lydia, died and was placed beside his two daughters in the Crow Cemetery.

Consternation and fear prevailed in the neighborhood. People refused to enter the home and the remaining members of the family were helpless in their plight. There came one to cope with this tragedy, a neighbor, Joseph Myers, a son of John Myers and an Uncle to Seth Neill's wife.

Joseph Myers was a married man with a family of small children and was warned by his family and friends, of the great risk he was taking. He gave them but one answer - "Those people must have help." Alone, he prepared those bodies for buriel and seen that they were respectfully put away. He and his family were spared from this fatal disease. He lived out his full span of years, and today, rests in the little Myers Family Cemetery, about two miles west of the Crow Cemetery.

The cemetery that James Crow gave to the people, twenty one years before, had claimed eight of his own kin and family in that many months. It was a staggering blow for the Crows, but they were able to weather it and maintain their homes. For the Neills, the family ties were broken - beyond repair.

In 1866, the last and final settlement of the John Neill estate was made and the books of those lives were closed forever, and the remaining members of the family were soon to be scattered asunder. In 1871, the daughters, Susan and Elizabeth, with their families, moved on westward. Missouri was ultimately to be their home. They were soon followed by their brother, John Thompson Neill.

On June 27, 1878, Samantha passed away with tuberculosis, leaving a family of five young boys who, on reaching maturity, departed from the old home site to seek their fortunes elsewhere.

Following the death of Samantha, the oldest son, Webster, moved with his family to Williams County, Ohio. He died in 1915, and rests on the quiet hill top in the Ney Cemetery at Ney, Ohio, near his daughter, Dora (Neill) Struble.

On September 8, 1899, Seth Neill passed away and was placed in the Crow Cemetery beside his brothers, sisters and parents. In the spring of 1900, Seth Neill's son, Joseph, took residence on the old home site where he reared his family, of four, and departed this life, November 23, 1949, while in his ninety first year.

Though a century has passed, we still have in our possession to remind us of their useful toil, their infants cradle and a sewing maching; the shoemakers tools with 15 sizes of wooden lasts; the reapers cradle and rake to glean; his bevel marker, candle holder, a noisemaker, that was probably used for charivaris or on Holloween nights; the long linked oxen's chain - etc.

I am now in my seventieth year and have lived, since my childhood, in the wake of those that have gone before. Many, that had their origin or trace their ancestry back to these scenes, have returned thru the years to pay homage. To these folks I am indebted, for much of the information condensed into this brief narrative.

I wish to recall the memory of Fanny Myers, while blind and in her 99th year, grasp my hand to assure herself that I was present and related the story of the last days of the Neill Family - and the fear and near panic that pervaded their home at that time.

And to my grandmother who related the stories to me, when I was but a child, of the long journey over the mountains and through the forests, with her grandfather, on their way to Putnam County from Haggerstown, Maryland. And she told of the long days of waiting that followed the departure of the big boat, on its trip to Fort Defiance, and the joyful return, she stated, "We always knew they were coming, long before they arrived, for we could hear them singing and shouting in the distance."

I am now, the last of the Neill clan to remain on the old home site, and can fittingly quote from the lines of "The Last Leaf" by, Oliver Wendell Holmes.

And if I should live to be
The last leaf on the tree
Let them smile as I do now
At the forsaken bow where I cling.

Henry Trame, of Ottawa, has the contract of building the John Trame barn and Frank Doepker of this place will construct the stone foundation.

Messrs. Adam and Alexander Dangler and Wm. Lowe have their mill set on the Trame farm and are sawing out the required amount of timber and lumber for the barn.

John Trame has torn down his old barn preparatory to building a new one. He will use a part of the old timber in the new building. This barn was the first large barn built in Greensburg township. It was built in 1845 by John Neill, then the owner of the Trame farm. Dimensions 62 feet long and 50 feet wide. The square timber was all oak except the plates which were hickory. The sills were 12 x 12 in. square and all the other timber 8 x 8. The weather boarding and finishing lumber was the very best of No. 1 poplar and was purchased at a saw mill on what was then called - the Poplar Ridge, near where the infirmary now is. We think perhaps it was what was known as the John Dixon mill. The rafters,of which were nearly two hundred, were made out of round poles, the greater portion being ash and ironwood and had the bark shaved off, which was done by the writer of this item when he was a lad of 9 years of age. The square timber was hewn in the woods and hauled with two yoke of oxen hiched to the rear truck of an old fashioned high wheeled wagon, swinging logs under the axle tree by means of a pulley which was turned with pins. The hauling was done by the writer assisted by a brother 2 years older. The raising of the barn was done in the old fashioned way by main strength, the old pioneers turned out to do the work. In order to get the required amount of hands, which was 80 men, Mr. Neill had to ask for 6 miles east, west and south. At that time there were not any settlers in Palmer township except perhaps for one or two at Keiferville and Wisterman. The carpenters who did the work were from Gilboa and vicinity and were six in number. Their names as we remember them were Nelson McAllister, foreman, Tilburn Thrapp, father of Isaac Thrapp, of Ottawa, Mr. Tracy, Mr. Marshall and two others whose names we have forgotten. Of those who were present at the raising we can recall but few names who are living. Of this number were Stephen Crow, Hoadly Brower, Miles Crow, Henry Andrews, Solomon Myers, Jarvis Wing, Isreal Ridenour and John Groves of this county, Joseph and W. H. Kitchen, of the State of Illinois, and Joseph T. Crow, of the territory of Okla.

-- Received, November 1963 from Oro J. Neill (6-32) Ottawa, Ohio.

The name of the author, of this article, is not given and I take it that the persons name is unknown. There is small doubt that the author was My Grandfather Seth Neill. He states that he was nine years old and that his brother was two years older. Seth Neill was born March 1836 thus in 1845 he would have been nine years old and Webster was his older brother. Also, grandfather was a reporter for the local news paper "The Putnam Sentinel". I have read some of his news reports and this was his style of writing.

I knew John Trame and went to school with his children. His oldest son, that was born and reared in great grandfathers old house is, today, the janitor at the Putnam County Court House. His name is Albert Trame, 253 Taft Ave. Ottawa, Ohio.

Was in Ottawa today and met Albert Trame he told me that he was born in 1890 and that the barn was rebuilt when he was nine years old so we now know when the barn was rebuilt - 1899.

In March of 1949 we witnessed one of the worst stormes that ever hit the County there was near a hundred big barns that gave way and fell in the County. The old barn on great grandfathers farm was one of them. The old timbers were dragged out in the near field where they laid to rot. Ten cows were under neath the barn when it fell and all died.

"Bowman's Rock" The subject of this narrative was a huge boulder that was embedded in the channel of the Auglaize River, about one mile up stream from a land mark known as Charloe, near the mouth of Blue Creek.

My father had, many years before, related stories to me about this boulder and the hazard that it was to the early traffic up and down the river; for much of the time it was submerged just below the surface of the water.

We were not to learn of this poem until many years later; late 1940's. The boulder was to be removed from the bed of the river by a local Historical Society and was to be placed in a park at Oakwood, Ohio as a memorial to Everitt A. Budd, a local Newspaper Editor in that area through the 1870's. Mr. Budd was a veteran of the war of 1861 to 1865 and was most surely familiar with great grandfathers boat.

The poem "Bowman's Rock" had been accepted, more or less, by the people in that area as a fictional narrative. There were some of the members of the society that had learned that there was a family of Neills living about 25 miles up stream from where the boulder was located and Nellie Neill being one of the leading characters in the narrative, caused them to put two and two together and they arrived at the conclusions that maybe it was not a fictional narrative at all, but did have a basis of truth.

One day, two of the members came to my home to explore that possibility. Once that we had read the poem we were all convinced, beyond doubt, it was John Neill's boat that had inspired Mr. Budd to compose the narrative; but as to how much was truth and how much was fiction - only Mr. Budd could have told.

Wing & Bowman were near neighbors of great grandfathers. The boat was described as a "slap-together" and, as such, it could have not been better described for it was two huge trees that had been joined together and, as stated, it came from the Blanchard Land and Bowman did marry a sister of my, or our, great grandmother.

This is the story as near as I know it and like some more of our material, it had come near to passing into oblivion. Had it not been for the inquiring minds of two or three people, it would have been lost to us - forever.

-- Received, February 4, 1965 from Harold Shisler; Paulding County, Oakwood, Ohio.

The boulder was taken from the Auglaize River; August 15, 1945 and placed in the park at Oakwood, Ohio approximately two months later. The correct weight of the boulder is not exactly known. It was measured by our county engineer and he figured that it was very close to 25 tons. With his engineering knowledge, we would say that this is somewhat accurate.

Everitt A. Budd was born in Harlem, Delaware County, Ohio on March 4, 1842. He is buried in the Prairie Chapel Cemetery, one mile east of Oakwood, Ohio. We can not find the exact date of his death but to the best of our knowledge it was 1909.

His grandmother on the maternal side of his ancestry was a descendent of the famous Adams family who in the drama of the history of the United States played a very prominent part.

In 1892, Mr. Budd wrote a history of Paulding County and gathered the data for some 1,200 personal biographies which are found in connection with this county history. This history is of uncommon interest, for the historian was painstaking in details and gathered all data with the carefulness of the true historian.

Mr. Budd was a journalist and wrote editorials for a number of county papers and was a valued correspondent for several city daily papers. He was a teacher, early in the history of Auglaize and Brown Townships, and took special interest in dramatic and debating societies.

He had rare poetic ability and stood without peer in the history of the Auglaize-Maumee Valley. The narrative poem of Bowman's Rock was copied and recopied by all the papers in this part of the state, and his memorial poem "Only a Brakeman" was published by the press of the country in general.

His favorite poets were Byron, Tennyson, Burns, Poe and Riley. He could quote extensively from all of them.

He was blessed with almost uninterrupted good health until within a few years of the close of his life. On the 15th of the 3rd Mo. 1884 he was stricken down with paralysis, which rendered him almost helpless and speechless.

He was also suffering much, at the same time, from a carbuncle on the spine and organic disease of the heart. And for two years before death closed the scene, he was a great sufferer from sciatica or rheumatism, consequently, many and wearisome were the days and nights allotted him, entirely conscious, yet powerless to express even a single thought in word or on paper, except by signs or a response of "yes" or "no" or "I guess not" to questions asked him, all of which he bore with a good degree of patience and resignation. Appearing much of the time very tender and thankful,for the care and kindness evinced by his family and friends, in the manifestations of which his countenance beamed with an expression of joy, sometimes grasping or patting us with his hand. The tender cords of affection being easily touched - he frequently wept.

Within one year after his first affliction, my beloved mother was removed from works to rewards, which was indeed, a sore trial to my dear afflicted yet surviving parent, but we were comforted in the belief that our great and unspeakable loss was her eternal gain.

In addressing her afflicted companion, she expressed a desire that they might be prepared in heaven to meet. It seemed apparent at times, that dear father was supplicating his divine master and when queried to that effect, he signified by saying "yes". When asked if he would as leave be taken away, out of his suffering, his response was the same and seemed to feel what was spoken.

He frequently "said" I can't stand it long, and in the reply to the remark, "That it was an awful thing to die", he said "yes" and apparently with much feeling. For the space of two hours before his death closed the scene, his suffering to all appearances seemed to cease, and his departure was remarkably easy and quiet, leaving his family and friends consoling hope, that through redeeming love and mercy - his end was peace.

4-20 Portions of - ACCOUNT OF SICKNESS AND DEATH OF EDITH (NEILL) STANLEY 4-20

Originally written by Edith's sister, Gulia Elma Neill (4-19)

-- Received from Oro J. Neill, Ottawa, Ohio. (Copy of a copy.)

Feeling my mind impressed with a sense of duty, thinking also it might be of some use to survivors, I give the following account of my beloved sister who was born the 13th of the 11th month, 1844. Died, first day of the third month, 1871. Age, 26 years and 3 months and 18 days.

She was the youngest daughter of Morton & Ann (Cope) Neill (3-6), who endeavored to bring up their children in the way they should go ---------

In the year, 1868, she was united in marriage to John C. Stanley, son of Micajah and Unity of Mahoning County. She was a kind companion, a tender mother and a woman much esteemed and ever faithful in performing her duties as a housewife, cheerful and pleasant in conversation. Although, things pertaining to this life seemed to prosper with the newly married pair, in so much that during the short time they were permitted to enjoy life together, they had been enabled to accumulate considerably.

For some two weeks before her death, she seemed to be declining in health from heart disease, gradually grew weaker but did not keep her bed --------

And though suddenly called away it seemed her impression was, previous to her last illness, that she was going to have a spell of sickness, which she mentioned to her husband several times. Surely, sickness ensued and soon terminated in death. And Oh - though the body be cold in death's embrace, we have hope and reason to believe that the spirit is at rest, and while alone, weeping beside her corpse, it ran through my mind, "weep not for me" and how often hath the language been, Blessed are they that die in The Lord.

The following information is from the marriage certificate of Mary Jane Chambers' parents, it is also in the possession of Frank A. Neill, Greeley, Colorado.

Mary Jane's father was James Chambers, the son of Thomas & Ann Chambers of Drumgor, County of Armagh.

Mary Jane's mother was Mary Nicholson, the daughter of James & Jane Nicholson of Kildorough, County Armagh.

Her parents intentions of marriage was twice published in the Meeting of Lurgan & Rich Hill, to which they respectively belonged. They were married, second day of tenth month, in the year one thousand eight hundred and six. (October 2, 1806) Witnesses are listed below.

THE STORY OF HARMON FAGEN (II)

The eldest child of Hezekiah & Hannah (Neill) Fagen.

About the year of 1848 there arrived at Fort Des Moines, as it was then called, two wagons that had for their motive power several yoke of cattle. Aside from a few necessary household goods and a small selection of farm tools, the loads were principally a heroic woman (Sarah) and a whole drove of children. The husband & father (Hezekiah) drove the lead team while the other was cared for by (Harmon) a young fellow of fifteen or more years. There was nothing unusual in the appearance of the outfit to attract more than a passing notice as such teams were of an everyday feature in the then young town on the far frontier. The emigrants had come, it seemed, from eastern Indiana and were to locate a few miles to the northwest of the old Garrison cabins on some land that had already been entered by a relative.

Neither the husband or wife were aged, and the matter of so large a family as they had, while a welcome addition to the small settlement, very naturally caused some curiosity from the inhabitants of the Forks of the Raccoon. It was explained in this manner: both parties had been married twice, and it was an example of my children, your children, and our children, all blended in one happy, contented family. The oldest child was the watchful driver of the team mentioned, then followed a whole bunch of rosey cheeked, good natured, handsome girls, then a number of boys but they were all small. So that the heavy work on the new farm, and the support of the family, naturally fell onto the father and the willing shoulders of the oldest son, himself but a mere boy.

Making a home in a new country is not easy work, as many a man and women discovered in the early days in Iowa. There were cabins to build, prairie to break, rails to split, fences to make, wells to dig, and a score and one other things to do ere any degree of comfort could be enjoyed.

Then there were crops to plant and tend that there might be provinder for animals and food for the family. these things kept the pioneer and his son busy during the spring, summer, and fall, and when winter came along, the woods must be visited and fuel cut and hauled to keep the open fireplace in condition to preserve the health and comfort of the large family. In the summer season all of the children that were old enough were sent to school, and except the older lad whose services could not be spared as a bread winner, and who in the mind of the editor of the Gazette, lived and worked as a hero in the home that his younger brothers & sisters might enjoy the blessings of a home in grand old Iowa. And so it went on with this family year after year, it was always work for the older son that the younger children might be educated, not that the younger children did not work for they did when not in school.

The older boy was naturally smart and ambitious. He had marked out for himself, although but few knew it, a professional career in which he hoped to gain prominence. But this idea he cast aside as the necessities of the family required his life to be passed along other lines. It is but justice to the parents & family to say that under no circumstances did he ever complain or tell his family of his wishes or his individual ambition.

The heroes did not all die at Shiloh or suffer in Andersonville prison. Neither did all of them assist in the sinking of Merrimack or capturing the harbor of Manilla. No, no. All of the Christians in the world are not preachers, neither are they necessarily enrolled on the church books. The young man of whom this is written may or may not have been a member of a church, but that he did perform in life the noble, self-sacrificing part of a true Christian boy and man, creed or no creed, goes without saying.

The State Register in two daily issues published an announcement of the death of Harmon Fagen and gave deserved notice of the pioneer.

It is in his memory that this slight tribute is printed, for the writer knew him well from the date of the arrival of the little caravan from Indiana to his death. Yes, Harmon Fagen was a hero in the home and is entitled to all the benefits in the future world that such a life as his is sure to bring.

OLDACRE, ELDER

Very few people even knew that S.W. Neill had been sick, until the announcement of his death on last Friday morning startled all. He had been apparently in good health while attending to his vocation as farmer. He was confined to home and bed but three or four days by an attack of heart trouble, which finally terminated fatally. Everybody knew Mr. Neill as a pleasant, whole-souled and generous man, devoted to the members of his family, a firm friend without a particle of deception in thought, word or deed, and a devout Christian. Mr. Neill, whose parents, John & Anna (Crow) Neill, came to this county in 1835, was born in Greensburg township, March 8th, 1836, died at his residence September 8th, 1899, aged 63 years & 6 mo's. He leaves a wife, eight children, twenty-one grandchildren, two brothers and two sisters to mourn their loss. He was an active member in the Mennonite church from 1870 to 1889. In May, 1889, he was fellowshipped into the Christian church at Forest Grove, in which he had lived a true Christian life. Both church and Sunday School will feel the loss of an ardent worker. In his death the church has lost one of its most worthy members. A seat has been made vacant in the earthly house of God. But we feel assured that the seat he now occupies is far more grand and glorious than any position we may embrace in this worldly life. But the example of his past life, and his removal from our midst, will have a marked effect upon the remaining members. We feel sure that our earthly loss is his eternal gain, and will not think of him dead, but gone before to join the host of innumerable friends who have preceded him to the spirit world and whose names before him were enrolled in the class book of God. To those bound by the ties of nature he will be remembered as a faithful Christian, a kind husband and father; to the community, as an obliging neighbor and never failing friend, who will be sadly missed at home and in social life. Mr. Neill enlisted in the 99th Regiment, Co. I, Aug. 10th, 1862, served his country three years ? under Captain Hawkey and was honorably discharged Jan. 24th, 1865 (1863) on the Surgeon's certificate of disability. He was also a member of the Thomas Allen Post, in which he always took a great interest. Mr. Neill has filled verious offices in the township with credit to himself and the satisfaction of the people. He has been a regular correspondent for our county papers many years, for which the readers will greatly miss him.

Services were held at Forest Grove church Sunday afternoon by Elder Oldacre, assisted by Elder Horning, who spoke from Job. 14:14,"If a man die shall he live again" to a congregation of about 600 people. Quite a number from a distance attended. The remaines were interred in the Crow cemetery east of this place under the auspices of Thomas Allen Post. May we so live that when the final call in given, that it may be "Well done, good and faithful servant, come up higher" and may the words of Scripture "For, to me to live is Christ and to die is gain" be our moto.

We miss thee from our home, dear father,
 We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
 We miss the sunshine of thy face.
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
 Thy fond and earnest care;
Our home is dark without thee,
 We miss thee every hour.

An old friend and neighbor of the deceased kindly furnished the Gazette the above obituary, but as Mr. Neill has for many years been identified with the Gazette as correspondent, it is our duty to add a few words to express our great sorrow and to state that our appreciation of his merit and fidelity as our correspondent could scarcely be measured. He was an exceedingly bright and interesting news gatherer, always so faithful, and aside from all other considerations the loss to us is a personal one by reason of our high respect for him. His last budget of news was scarcely off the press when we were informed of his death. It came like a thunderbolt. Little did he think only three days before when he handed in his items that the next week's paper would chronicle his own death. He has written so well here below, he is writing now in heaven.

Susanna M. Farabee, born October 11, 1839 (1838), departed this life February 17, 1905 aged 65 (66) years, 4 months and 6 days.

HISTORICAL - Susanna M. Neill was born in Putnam Co. Ohio, Oct. 11, 1839 (1838). Was married to Elias Farabee, March 6, 1859. They removed to Indiana in the spring of 1870, and to Missouri in the fall of 1871, settling on a farm about halfway between Hale and Tina, where they resided until 1892 when they removed to a farm near Hale.

During a meeting held at Bridge Creek by Rev. H. C. Dayhoft some thirty years ago she was converted and joined the M.E. Church living a consistent member until her death.

The family consisted of two sons, Wm. A. and Chas. W. , both living, and one daughter, Viola J. who died some twenty years ago.

Funeral services were held at the M.E. Church in Hale by Rev. Ruilson, the pastor, assisted by Rev. Neighbours of the M.E. Church South, after which her body was interred in the Hale cemetery.

A TRIBUTE - Of Quaker parentage, she seemed to have inherited that gentle spirit the quiet unobtrusive ways and manners characteristic of those people. No other word would express her character or disposition as the word gentle. No one who knew her well, could do otherwise but love her.

For nearly forty-six years she and her husband side by side fought the battles of life together, exemplyfying that part of the marriage vow, "Forsaking all others keep thee only so long as both shall live."

During the civil war she endured all the privations, loneliness and anxieties of a soldier's wife with cheerfulness, and though her last days were full of pain and suffering, not a word of complaint escaped her lips.

A Brother.

ELIAS FARABEE was born March 6th, 1831, and died at the home of his son, W.A. Farabee September 18, 1910, aged 79 years, 6 months and 12 days. He was born in Pennsylvania, removing to Athens county, Ohio, with his parents when a small boy. After he reached manhood he moved to Putnam county, Ohio, where he was married on March 6, 1859 to Susannah M. Neill. In 1870 he moved to Indiana and in 1871 to Carroll County Mo., settling on a farm about half way between Hale and Tina. Later he sold this farm and bought near Hale where he lived until the death of his wife which occurred in Feburary 1905, since which he has made his home with his son W.A. Farabee, of Tina.

Three children were born to this union, W.A. Farabee, of Tina, Mo.; Chas. W. Farabee, of Aline, Okla. and Viola, who died about 30 years ago.

He was converted and joined the M.E. church about 35 years ago and lived a consistent christian until his death. He was a soldier in the civil war and a member of the G.A.R. whose members acted as pall bearers at Tina.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mendenhall, of Marceline at the M.E. church in Tina. He was buried at the Hale cemetery beside his wife and daughter, the Masonic lodge, of Hale, of which he was a member, taking charge of the service and grave.

The above tells briefly of the life, death and burial of a good man, who as a citizen, soldier and christian exemplified the highest ideals of American citizenship. He was honest because it was natural, kind because it was his disposition and brave because he believed in the right. Truly he was gifted with admirable traits of character and the world is better by his having lived in it. His influence for good still lives and stands as a monument to his honor in this community.

5-9 MEMOIRS OF THE NEILL FAMILY by Lester J. Neill, March 1951 (page 1 of 7) 5-9

-- Received, May 1966 from Clayton B. Neill, Carmel, Calif. Compiler, Ira J. Neill.

By way of a beginning I find that about 1824, Samuel M. and Mary Dixon (Cope) Neill (3-2) were married near West Middleton, Columbiana Co. Ohio.

Samuel was the eldest son of William & Susanna Neill (2-1). Susanna's maiden name was Morton, so this was the unifying of Neill & Morton and Dixon & Cope family lineage. My grandfather and grandmother, Samuel & Mary Neill, began their married life. Six girls and four boys were born of this union. My father, Morton Samuel (4-5) was born Sept. 13, 1834.

In the seemingly crowded farm conditions some of these Columbiana Co. Quakers sought larger acreage at less cost per acre. Two of grandfather's brothers had gone to Ottawa, Putnam Co. in Northwestern Ohio. In the early fiftys Quaker cousins of grandmother Mary (Cope) Neill had migrated to Jennings County in Southeast Indiana. Reports came back to the home people of the wonderful standing timber to be found in Indiana. Poplar, Oak, Hickory, Lime, Walnut and Wild Cherry growing in abundance. In those days the timber, although not so valuable, was a sign of good land. Grandfather Neill made a trip to this Indiana section. He met Evan Cope, Mr. Burdge, Hiram Cope, Nathan Armstrong and maybe other men whom he had known in Ohio. Through them and his estimate of the lands, Grandfather paid an option on a farm about three miles due east of Butlerville, Indiana, and about that distance from Wilburite Quaker meeting of which the Neills, Copes, Armstrongs and Burdges were members in Ohio.

Some of these early pioneers, loaded their farm livestock and personal belongings and families on river steamships at Liverpool on the Ohio River. The southeast border of Columbiana Co. borders this river. These families were landed at Madison, Ind., about 24 miles from the Butlerville destination.

Grandfather returned to Ohio. Henry Beeson who had married Aunt Ruth Cope, a sister of Grandmother, also was ready to go West. So the Neill family, now comprising seven children, and the Beeson family with four children, with Conestoga wagons (Neill had two wagons and Beesons one) started West during the summer of 1853. These people, the children ranging from eight to twenty years, had many delightful evenings enroute. You may guess that it took some time to make the 360 mile journey by wagon. Early morning travel was ever the order except when Grandmother Neill and Aunt Ruth demanded a stop-over in order to find some farm home where a bake oven service could be rented or maybe granted permission to use. Finally the farm in Indiana was reached. Grandfather Neill ever ready to tell of or show the big trees, a very worthwhile log house and barn and a wonderful spring of water. But the spring of water was located about one thousand feet down a rather steep hill and Grandmother Neill said she would not go to that place and carry all the water up that hill. So grandfather allowed his option money to go.

The Beesons did not think so well of this Indiana land. Uncle Henry had people in Hardin Co. Iowa, so they drove on and the families never met again.

The Neills, having forfeited their rights to the Hill Farm which I knew as the Horne Cathig Farm, had no place to go so they drove on to Evan Cope one mile east of Butlerville and stretched their tent near the Evan Cope house. Cope was a first cousin of Grandmother Neill. The four Cope children and the Neills had known each other in Ohio so these youngsters had some happy days ere Grandfather found another farm to suit them both.

Wet weather on hand and the sleeping apartments not adequate for so many, an empty four-square log house with a regulation one comb roof was rented. The gables of this cabin were boarded on either end and a small door hung open. This loft door, if used, was done so by the use of a ladder. The house, somewhat old, had been vacant for a long time because it was haunted, or using the Hoosier vernacular, it was "hanted". My father and Uncle Will (4-3) said they would find out how "hanted" it was. Their very first night revealed an old hoot or night owl had made his home in the garret.

Grandfather & Grandmother Neill bought a farm of 160 acres on the Graham Creek, 6 miles due south of Butlerville where they moved ere real winter set in. There was some cleared land and some buildings. I do not know how much additional building was done.

You may recall earlier in this narrative that I told of ten children, but when the family started for Indiana there was only seven. Well, the three older girls were married and they soon came to the Graham neighborhood. They were Isaac Richardson (4-1), Dr. Heald (4-2) and Dr. Richards (4-4) and they lived not far away. My father, Morton S. Neill, studied medicine with these men, later going to Medical School in Cincinnati. My father went to New Marion in Ripley Co., at least eight miles from Graham at San Jacinto and practiced medicine. In fact, he did not come to San Jacinto until Dr. Heald had moved to South English, Iowa and Dr. Richards had moved to Taylorsville, Indiana.

At New Marion my father was elected a captian of a company of Home Guards under the appointment of the Governor Morton of Indiana. Southern sympathizers and real companies of Southern Confederate soldiers raided the north border states and these Home Guards were ever on the alert for rebels from the South.

No doubt some who read this may have read of the Underground Railroad, an escape route south and to the north and on into Canada for runaway slaves. Cincinnati was said to have been a very favorable crossing for the runaway slaves, at times crossing on ice. However, at Madison, Indiana, there were several free lance and small ferries for transporting runaway slaves across the Ohio River. Dr. Richards of San Jacinto and Dr. Heald, located at Dupont, were both quite interested in helping these runaways. I have been told that these men actually paid certain Ohio River ferrymen money to transport the runaway slaves across the Ohio River. The Sammy Neill (3-2) farm was about the first stopover for the Negroes where they were fed and assisted on the way north.

The Arvin Queer farm and county flour and grist mill, possibly two miles east and north of Butlerville, was another underground station and was frequently visited by the paid slave police working out of Madison. These police were paid liberal money for every slave they caught and took back across the Ohio River where they were reinforced. Two such slaves were directed to the Neill home late one evening. Very early the next morning Grandfather, my Uncle James (4-6) and Hadley (4-10), using an old-time wagon had the Negro men lie flat on the bottom of the wagon. Ear corn was placed on the Negroes and the young men started to the Arvine Queer mill eight miles away to get the corn ground, much of it for chickens and stock but a liberal supply for the home meals. The boys had additional feed of hay for a noonday feed for the horses. About midway between San Jacinto and Butlerville two horsemen stopped the boys and inquired if they had seen two runaway niggers on the road. The men went on to say what they would do to anyone whom they caught helping the niggers to get away. One of the men also had plenty to say about that so and so Dr. Heald at Dupont whom they heard was one helping niggers to escape. Uncle Hadley said his brother James told them he had seen no niggers on the road. However, the men continued to allow their horses to eat hay off of the Neill wagon. Well, the boys delivered the Negroes at the Queer farm and they supposed the Negroes made good their escape.

Grandmother Neill, living some six miles from the Quaker meeting, was somewhat chagrined at not being able to go to church more often. However, all her girls were quite trained in using the plain Quaker use of pronouns in the family conversation. Grandmother Neill died in 1860 and was buried near her home in Graham.

Two girls were still at home but soon they wanted to marry, so Grandfather, in 1862, found a woman to marry. This union (with Isabelle Barns) was possibly his grief in a financial way. Ere long he was compelled to sell the farm. My father bought the place and Eliza(4-7), a sister now a widow,came to live with him. Uncle James had struck out for himself as a dentist. Uncle Hadley farmed with my father who was a busy doctor. Grandfather, Samuel M. Neill, died in 1875.

On my mother's side of the family I refer now to the name Wilson, who were rather a prominent Presbyterian family living just north of Salem, Ohio, in Mahoning Co. About 1839 my Grandfather James Wilson married Elizabeth Hutchinson. This couple settled on the north portion of the Wilson farm. Here he and a brother John farmed together. Two sons, Dilworth and Thomas, both lived to manhood. Two daughters, Mary, my mother (4-5), who was born in 1851, and Anna, born in 1856. My Grandfather Wilson died in 1860. Dilworth, the older son, went to war and was killed at the battle of Stone River, January 1, 1863.

Uncle Thomas and Grandmother attempted to farm the home place but in 1863 Thomas, a teacher, went away to teach and the farm was sold. A neighbor, Lawrence Dougherty, a widower, married my Grandmother in 1864. The newlyweds and the two girls, Mother and my Aunt Anna, lived in the Dougherty home just east of the Wilson home. In 1867 Lawrence Dougherty also got the Indiana fever and drove out to New Marion in West Ripley Co., Indiana, and bought a farm adjoining one owned by Robert Wilson, an Uncle of my mother who had come to this section some years before. My mother, a girl of sixteen, went to District School, one year at Old Bethel school.

In the early spring of 1868 my mother was stricken with typhoid fever. Dr. Morton Neill was called and he was a man of thirty-three years plus. However, soon a case of courtship was on hand and Morton Neill and Mary Wilson were married in August, 1868. This couple went to the Neill farm at Graham. Aunt Eliza was leaving soon to marry.

Uncle Thomas Wilson died in 1868. My father, mother and Aunt Anna made a trip to Salem, Ohio, to see him ere he passed. Grandmother Dougherty had gone to Salem some weeks previous. The party came home by boat from Liverpool, Ohio to Madison, Indiana, in September, 1869.

I, Lester J. Neill (5-9) came to live with Morton and Mary Neill March 20, 1870. My first three years I do not recall. In November, 1872, my father was working on an orchard fence repairing it for feeder hogs he had traded for a doctor bill. The day was rainy and he developed a cold which ran into pneumonia from which he died in May, 1873. My mother and I went to live with Grandfather Dougherty near Bethel Church. This man was one of the best men I ever knew. He thought the world of "Bub", his pet name for me.

My mother had really qualified as a midwife and I recall she was called at different times to homes and in later years I learned that her services had been much appreciated.

I generally lived with Granpap during these times when Mother was working away from home. I think she and I made two trips to Salem, Ohio, staying some months each time. Her Uncle John Wilsons were dairy people, milking cows and making quanities of butter which was packed in ten pound wooden firkins to be taken to a big grocery in Salem. One fall we visited some of my father's relatives in Columbiana Co. at East Carmel, now Rogers, Ohio. Uncle Morton Neill (3-6), a younger brother of Grandfather Neill and Aunt Ann (Cope) Neill, a sister of Grandmother Mary Neill, were just the finest Quakers one would want to know. Other near relations, the Copes, the Armstrongs and the Ahlmans were likewise very fine people.

The first day meetings generally were silent meetings. However, Aunt Susan Ahlman, Grandmother Neill's youngest sister, sometimes spoke as the spirit moved. The church was divided by sliding shutters which I am told were closed for special business where the topic to be considered was of a shady nature. In September, 1949, I again visited the old Neill home and the old church building, now used as a home for a laborer.

My mother, a black-haired lady of medium build and graceful bearing, had frequent dates with would-be husbands, one or two whom I thought might be acceptable as a step-dad but when she did get concerned to marry a second time she married William Courtney October 2, 1879. I recall I thought the end of time was for me. I climed up on my Aunt Anna's lap and cried as if my heart was broken. I guess Mr. Courtney didn't appreciate my very ungrateful actions in accepting him as a step-dad.

In early 1880 my mother, now Mary Courtney, bought eighty acres of land near Butlerville where they lived at least sixteen years. I somehow was not able to please my step-dad and when I was fourteen I went to live with Aunt Annie. She was married to Chalmer McNeelan. I worked here for my room and board and went to school at District School. During the six months between school terms I received as high as eight dollars a month and ofttimes I worked as long as twelve hours a day. In the care of horses I was told by one of my Uncle's sons that Lester, or "Lett" was the best hand to care for his horses he ever had.

In the fall of 1885 I entered the more advanced school or Normal at Butlerville. Here I took the school examination and received a sheepskin diploma which probably would be equivalent to an eighth grade diploma now.

In January, 1886, I was able to make my first date with Isabella Bewley, as charming a girl as I ever met. However, these dates did not happen often.

In early September, 1886, I entered Earlham College, a Quaker Denominational school located at Richmond, Indiana. This was done at the direction of Townsend Cope whom my father had named guardian of a little money for me.

During my second year at Earlham I was privileged to meet Prof. Wm. N. Trueblood, the English teacher. He took me in hand and told me I was tongue-tied. He suggested I see a doctor. This I did, and three times during that year I had the under attachment of my tongue clipped. Each student was supposed to appear at least once a year either in declamation or read an essay in a public evening tryout. I was excempt of this duty the first and second year at Earlham on account of my lisping.

My summers I spent near Butlerville working where I could get work. One summer I worked hauling saw logs for Harvey Engle. My social opportunities were quite limited as I had no horse or buggy. I attended the local literary club occasionally. I sometimes was able to walk Miss Bewley to her home. Somewhat backward, I realized I was not much of a flame on these pleasant walks. However, Miss Bewley never did give me the mitten. Back to Earlham, I, like a number of other country yaps, was somewhat of a wall flower at the Saturday evening social parties. I could not think of very interesting things to say or how to say them.

My Uncle and Aunt Chalmer McNeelans had moved to the timberland thirty miles southwest of Little Rock. I went to see them the first of August returning to Earlham for the first of September opening in 1890.

Each fall I was on the Rugby football squad and had to report for practice each day at 4:10 p.m. May I say that in the fall of 1888 Rugby had been relegated to the past and the present day football was introduced. I was quite a student in the new game. So much so that in the fall of 1888 I was quarterback and captain on the first team.

During my last year at Earlham I just possibly began to realize why I was at school. I was on the Library Committee for the year. Our Literary Society during the winter organized a mock Senate. I was selected as Senate leader or whip, a privilege which I exercised. For the Society president, an honor worthy of having, I failed to be elected by one vote, hence as near famous as I ever was.

I graduated in June, 1891. I guess I was an average student. As the Courtneys were building a new house Mother wrote me to come home and help them. My step-dad was sick and unable to do heavy work and he knew of no one he trusted to drive his team except me and so I again was home.

The spring I was twenty-one years old I had a few hundred dollars in my own name. My first purchase was a horse and buggy and I worked at home making myself useful as best I could. Sunday evening I was going calling at the Bewley home.

The fall of 1891 I bought a small general store in Butlerville. Our wedding occurred on December 27, 1892, a home wedding, relatives and friends attending. We made a honeymoon trip to Washington, D. C. Coming back to Butlerville we began housekeeping in the village. I realized my store business was limited but I continued on until May, 1904, when I sold out, a poorer, but I hope a wiser man. I never rated myself very highly.

Back to our home life. We bought a house of fair size and here our first child, Murray Cope (6-5) was born, June 25, 1895. Yes, we were a happy couple, having as fine a child as anyone could wish for. A playmate was our desire and Alwina was born in December, 1896. She was a very beautiful child and we were well pleased. In May, Alwina took sick and died in early June. We were heartbroken. However, we were still hopeful. Murray was a joy in every way. In February, 1898, he was stricken with membranes croup and was taken from us. Sorrow had doubly hit our family life and with more concern because we were looking for another child in March. Our son, Clayton (6-7), was born March 14, 1898, less than a month after the death of Murray and about nine months after the death of Alwina. This was a very heavy load of endurance and grief for my wife Bella. Her grief for Alwina was doubly so. However, we still were hopeful and our fourth child, Margaret (6-8), was born May 15, 1900. She was rather a frail child and Bella was unable to nourish the child in nature's way so we resorted to prepared baby foods, which did not prove satisfactory. After the death of Murray and considerable cold trouble, requiring medical attention, Mother Bewley told us that this house was not a healthy house in which to live, so in the fall of 1900 we sold it and bought an almost new house which we moved into.

As Margaret was not doing at all well we arranged with Bella's brother James' wife, Mary, to nurse our starving baby. Some improvement was shown but again the doctor said we should get the baby away for the summer of 1901 as a second summer baby offtimes had a bad time in the Indiana climate. We finally went to California for the summer. We also found a better baby food and the child showed improvement.

After selling my store I scouted around some, working a while in Indianapolis. In November, 1904, I opened a small drygoods, notion and shoe store in Westfield, Indiana. Here I had some business but I realized I was just too close to a city for much business. Four years of this and I again sold out. We had a wealth of good friends at Westfield.

We went to California, stopping at Long Beach for a while. Clayton, our ten-year old boy developed some throat trouble and a doctor advised us to get Clayton away from the seaside. So we came to Turlock in April, 1909. I worked in Osborn's store some years. We had bought a small ranch near Denair and lived in the country.

Roberta (6-9), our California daughter, was born December 16, 1912. Again my wife developed breast trouble and was unable to nurse our baby nature's way. A baby food was found and the baby got along very nicely.

My wife soon learned she had a well-developed cancer of the right breast. Again we were at a loss as to what to do as we were in debt on our ranch with the possibility of a heavy doctor bill coming up. We decided to sell our ranch at a little clearance above what we had paid. The Pasadena cancer specialist to whom we were referred by a well-wishing neighbor lady, was our next contact. In November, 1913, this doctor did a very successful job of removing the cancerous breast.

As we had learned to enjoy life around Denair we rented and farmed for fourteen years. Sometimes we thought we were doing well. Peaches, melons and beans were all a gamble during those years. In November, 1928, I sold what farm equipment I had and began to work for the Pacific Rural Press, a farm paper.

My married life to dear Bella was a one hundred percent love and cooperative marriage union. Through thick and thin, and more often thin, was endured. Five wonderful babies, three of whom lived to man and womanhood. I think our married life was the biggest and maybe our only asset. However, Mrs. Isabella Neill (My wife) and I have made good friends where ere we have lived.

My wife told me she had no regrets that she had married Lester Neill. Well, I was ever a faithful lover of my wife Isabella. Our married life, from December 27, 1892, when we were married, until her death on July 14, 1950, a total of fifty-seven years and seven and one-half months plus, has left me with a look-backward summary of marital wedlock, the all-important and only important record I can pass on to our children.

The Richardson family continued to live not far from the old Neill home. Aunt Melissa (4-1), my father's oldest sister, was as good a woman as ever lived. Her husband, Uncle Isaac, was an old time land surveyor. I remember he owned a very simple transit and chains. He never drove a horse to his work, walking eight or ten miles for a surveying job, eating or lodging near where he had a job of land surveying. It has been said that Isaac Richardson could step a lineal distance of many feet, step three feet at a time, and could verify his stepping quite accurately with a chain. To the sorrow of my Quaker aunt, Uncle Issac claimed the Book of Moses, the first book of the Bible, were of no truth. At the funeral of Uncle Isaac his brother told us that Issac was not agnostic so far as God was concerned.

Sam Richardson moved to Crosby, Montana, and raised a large family, three of whom I have known. They were all fine people. Willits Morton and James Hadley Richardson, the twin boys named for their uncles, a little older than I, were my best boyhood friends. Willits moved to Decatur Co., east of Taylorsville. I have met three of his children, also fine people. Hadley bought the Richardson home place and was a very successful farmer there, only selling the farm when the United States government seized the acreage there for a military proving ground. I have met three of his family. Four girls of the family I know but little.

As I stated before, Dr. Allen & Rebecca Heald (4-2) had moved to South English, Iowa, a town about a days horse and buggy drive between West Branch, Iowa, a Quaker settlement and Oskaloosa, where the Iowa yearly meeting and Penn College were situated. Uncle Allen, a country doctor. The daughter, Alice, was a student of more than ordinary ability and becoming acquanted with Penn College people, once ran for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, but was not allowed to have her name endorsed because she was a woman. She married Chester Mendenhall. Two boys were born. William, or Willie, was a farmer and I judge quite successful. Clarence, the younger son, was a worthwhile medical student in Chicago and then Philadelphia. He was the master M.D. at Sigourney, Iowa, for many years.

Uncle Willits (4-3) or Will Neill, married a Johnson lady near Bethel and raised a family of two boys and four girls. I ever enjoyed being in the home. Uncle Will was a good entertainer, a good man for his family, music and singing in the home. He died at a rather young age, 55 years I think. His older girls, Alice & Annabella, had children of good report. I have known them.

Morton, (5-5) about five years older than I, was a fine young man, a teacher of worth. Undue exposure following an ice skating party caused pneumonia from which he did not recover. Ofttimes on Sunday he made trips to see his doctor at Butlerville and he would stop for me to go with him. Though he was aware he was fighting against odds he was not despondent or critical of his ailment. Dr. Kendrick told me that Morton Neill, my cousin, was one in a thousand. I think I was fifteen or sixteen years old at this time.

Elizabeth Neill (5-6), a little older than I, was a very considerate cousin and friend of mine. I think I loved her as though she was a sister. She has a fine daughter, Mrs. Charles Weed, living near Pittsboro, just west of Indianapolis. LaVada Brown (5-8), a younger sister, of Elizabeth, lives not far away. The younger Clement Neill (5-7) of that family died in early 1950.

Dr. Richards and wife, Aunt Elizabeth (4-4), moved to Taylorsville, Indiana, about thirty miles north of the old home near Vernon, Indiana. While Dr. Richards was a very busy doctor, ever on call to drive where ere needed, he also acquired considerable acreage. His son Lewis was his partner on the farm and later a younger son was also associated. Lewis, the older son, was Bartholomew Co. Commissioner for some years. Frank, the younger, now operates a grain elevator and is a grain dealer. Mother was at the Richards part of two summers and I, Lett, also there, ever ready to play with Frank. Frank is still one of my best friends as well as a cousin.

Uncle James Neill (4-6), a dentist in Vernon, Indiana, died in 1877. His daughter, Mrs Monta Royce(5-13), a fine woman lives in Versailles, Indiana. Her husband, Charles Royce, now deseased, was a lawyer. He was circuit court judge. Mrs. Royce has a daughter who was a teacher at Butler University. (Mary Bilby, Mrs. Wm. C., of Indianapolis, Indiana.) James Neill's son, J. Athol (5-15), was also a dentist and is now living in Versailles. I am told he has two interesting sons and two interesting daughters.

The families of Aunt Eliza (Neill) Wayland (4-7) and that of Aunt Mary Ann (Neill) Cope (4-8) I know nothing of as they moved away from that section when I was small. There is a post office in Colorado named Cope where Aunt Ann moved.

My father's youngest sister Margaret Neill (4-9) was married to Meredith Johnson in 1860. They lived three miles west of Bethel. Two daughters, Mary & Louise died in young womanhood. Everett, a son, a little younger than I, married and lived near the home place. He died and his widow and children moved to Yorba Linda, California. Another daughter, Florence, married a Butlerville boy, a Santa Fe railroad man for years. They live now at 819 Kennay St., Anaheim, Calif. The youngest daughter, Edith, continued to live with her aging father, Meredith. After his death she continued to live as a spinster in the Johnson home until the United States government took over the farm for their large acreage of military proving grounds.

Uncle Hadley Neill (4-10) married in 1882. His widow Agnes Dolan Neill and daughter, Nora Neill (5-6), now live in Milan, Indiana. Aunt Agnes' home acreage, the Dolan farm, was also in the United States proving grounds. The selection of lands in east Jennings Co. and west Ripley and south in Jefferson Co., Indiana, an area eighteen miles north and south and six miles wide east and west purchased by the United States government for a military proving ground was considered by many people as a gross injustice to those people who were compelled to move out of this area. Some men thought the United States government paid the land owners a fair price for the land. Others who through years of toil, building and the improvement of soil productiveness, felt that the government had gypped them. I know the north six miles block of this United States seizure. Possibly I could name 50 families or more who moved, any number of whom had built very good homes and livestock quarters for stock, feed and livestock shelters as well, including my relatives Clement Neill, Hadley Richardson, Mrs Belle hughes, Wilsons, Mary Hayden, Aunt Agnes Neill's birthplace, Edith Johnson and Elizabeth Neill Johnson.

When I again visited this section in 1949 I was peeved to see a high eight foot wire fence along the west and north boundries of this United States land, barring me from traveling over lands that I had known so pleasanty in my younger days. I was told the many buildings had been torn down or burned and the acreage was grown up in bushes and briars and weeds. Clem Neill, a cousin who was the owner of the Grandpap Dougherty farm was well pleased with the price the United States paid him and was ready to pledge his allegiance to the great Democratic party for buying his farm at a good price. However, not so many felt that way. Some I met were very critical of the government seizure. The acreage really did enclose no towns or closely settled sections. There are possibly six churches, graveyards and many country schools who have not been hurt by the New Deal.

The vicinity near Butlerville where there were many Quakers living, say from 1860 to 1906, is no longer a place where Quakers can be found. The adherents have scattered to sections who knows where, I, one of the last trustees of the Old Hopewell Quaker Church, with two others legally signed the deed of the church property to Western Yearly Meeting, held at Plainfield in September, 1906.
